

The Church of England Professional Qualification for Headship

As a leader of a Church of England school, or somebody whose practice and leadership resonate with Christian values, are you looking for a NPQH programme which enables you to experience “life in all its fullness” (John, 10:10) and enables your staff and children to do the same? If so, the CofEPQH could be the programme for you. You do not need to be a leader of a Church school!

The Church of England Foundation for Educational Leadership is an official provider for the NPQH and Torre is the partner school for the South West region. More information about this exciting leadership programme can be found here:

CofEPQH 2019/20 application deadline: Friday 2nd November 2018. The Church of England Professional Qualification for Headship (CofEPQH) provides rigorous preparation for senior leaders preparing for their first headship, heads leading both primary and secondary schools for the first time, and heads who have not yet completed the NPQH.

The Church of England Professional Qualification in Headship 2019 (CofEPQH2019) – Taster Webinars: various dates

Financial Leadership: difficult times call for hard decisions and innovation 27th September 2018, @7.00PM

This webinar will examine the picture in England and the hard decisions that school leaders are having to make.

The Irresistible Rise of Technology: implications for schools 10th October 2018, @6.00PM

Artificial Intelligence is starting to shape our world in ways that were inconceivable only a few years ago and the pace of change is only likely to get faster. What skills, knowledge and wisdom might be necessary for young people and how do we prepare them and us for the future?

Values Driven Leadership: is it still relevant in schools? 24th October 2018, @5.00PM

Values need to be front and centre of a leader's life if a school is to serve its community effectively.
